Endo Inc. Root Canal Specialists is a specialized dental practice providing exceptional endodontic services to their patients in a caring, compassionate environment. An experienced and professional team whose primary concern is patients' well-being, makes their specialty group the practice of choice for endodontic care. The doctors at Endo Inc. explain the factors behind their success.

What does Endo Inc. specialize in?

We are specialists in diagnosing and treating oral pain and experienced in performing procedures in a way that eases patients' fears and helps them avoid pain. We are committed to excellence, and focused on the individual needs and preferences of our patients. Our enhanced training, combined with high levels of expertise, use of cutting-edge technology, and impressive success rates are the main reasons patients and general dentists trust us to perform treatment.

Why see a specialist?

All endodontists are dentists, but less than three percent of dentists are endodontists. While your general dentist is like a family doctor, great for regular cleanings, check-ups, and general oral health, endodontists have at least two years of additional education to become experts in performing root canal treatment and diagnosing and treating tooth pain. In addition, our doctors have been board certified by the American Board of Endodontics.

What sets Endo Inc. Root Canal Specialists apart?

Our doctors share a personal commitment to providing the best care for our patients. Our passion focuses on understanding our patients' dental related concerns, fears, and anxieties, and we have extensive experience helping to alleviate these feelings. We use the latest techniques, technology, and research to insure you receive the best care possible, including surgical operating microscopes, digital x-rays, 3D Cone Beam CT imaging, sedation dentistry, electronic health records, and secure email. These tools ensure accurate diagnostics, effective treatment, and a comfortable experience.

We are honored to be awarded as top dentists, and inspired to continue to put our patients first. If you are experiencing tooth pain, extreme sensitivity, discoloration, or a traumatic injury to a tooth, you may need a root canal or surgery to save that tooth. With today's technology and advances, root canal treatment is virtually pain free. We have provided superior routine and urgent endodontic care to our patients for over 30 years. Call us to see how we can help relieve your pain, save your natural tooth, and restore your smile!
